However, when calculating your service charge, we also take into account any year on year increase against your estimate and if we have informed you of any change to services following formal consultation.

Therefore, if service charges appear high we may decide to apply a discount which will be reflected in your overall charge.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Types of service charge costs

Depending on your home and the services you receive, and any specific terms in your lease, you may be required to pay for one or more service charge elements. A list of what you may pay for and a brief description is shown below:

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Accountancy Fee	The cost of providing the Accountant's Report to accompany your service charge statement if it is required by your lease
 Aids & Adaptations (in communal areas)	The cost of the provision, repair and maintaining of adaptations in communal areas
 Alarm, Aerial, Door Entry and General Servicing	The cost of providing, servicing, maintaining and testing systems and equipment in communal areas which may include, but is not limited to: TV aerials External alarms and CCTV Door entry systems Fire alarms and emergency lighting Entry gates and barriers Laundry equipment Air conditioning and ventilation
 Building Insurance	The cost of building insurance on properties we own. This does not include contents insurance, which is your responsibility to arrange with a provider of your choice.
 Cleaning	The cost of cleaning communal areas to the block such as corridors, stairwells, windows, flooring, communal lounges and kitchens.
 Communal Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of electricity for all communal lighting internal to the block or street lighting for the scheme (when not owned and maintained by the local authority.) The cost of fuel to heat and provide hot water to communal rooms including shared bathrooms, lounges and kitchens. The cost of communal water supply to gardens, kitchens, bathrooms, bin stores and sewage pumps.
 Communal Lift Maintenance	The cost of maintaining, cleaning, repair, insurance or replacement of lifts in communal areas.
 Communal Repairs	The cost of repairing and maintaining communal areas of the block or scheme. Most repairs are covered by the rent, but some communal repairs are charged through service charges.
 Environmental (including pest control)	The cost of sewerage charges, gritting services and costs incurred in clearing vermin, including pesticides and pest control contracts.
 Estate Services Costs	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by Guinness staff.
 Fixtures, Fittings and White Goods	The cost of maintaining, servicing (including periodic cleaning), renewal of furniture, furnishings and white goods in communal areas of the building.
 Waste/Rubbish removal and Bin Hire	The cost of maintaining, decontamination and repair of refuse collection and refuse containers. The cost of removing rubbish including items that have been fly-tipped on the scheme.

Types of service charge costs continued

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Gardening and Tree Work	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by third party contractors.
 Ground Rent	An annual charge, known as ground rent, may be charged to a leaseholder by the freeholder. This is stated in the lease.
 Heating Repairs & Maintenance	The cost of maintaining and repairing any communal heating system.
 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.
 Risk Assessment and Monitoring	The cost of statutory servicing and periodic risk assessments which may include fire risk assessments, legionella risk assessments and, for leaseholders, gas safety checks.
 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.
 Risk Assessment and Monitoring	The cost of statutory servicing and periodic risk assessments which may include fire risk assessments, legionella risk assessments and, for leaseholders, gas safety checks.
 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 Building Insurance	The cost of building insurance on properties we own. This does not include contents insurance, which is your responsibility to arrange with a provider of your choice.
 Cleaning	The cost of cleaning communal areas to the block such as corridors, stairwells, windows, flooring, communal lounges and kitchens.
 Communal Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of electricity for all communal lighting internal to the block or street lighting for the scheme (when not owned and maintained by the local authority.) The cost of fuel to heat and provide hot water to communal rooms including shared bathrooms, lounges and kitchens. The cost of communal water supply to gardens, kitchens, bathrooms, bin stores and sewage pumps.
 Communal Lift Maintenance	The cost of maintaining, cleaning, repair, insurance or replacement of lifts in communal areas.
 Communal Repairs	The cost of repairing and maintaining communal areas of the block or scheme. Most repairs are covered by the rent, but some communal repairs are charged through service charges.
 Environmental (including pest control)	The cost of sewerage charges, gritting services and costs incurred in clearing vermin, including pesticides and pest control contracts.
 Estate Services Costs	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by Guinness staff.
 Fixtures, Fittings and White Goods	The cost of maintaining, servicing (including periodic cleaning), renewal of furniture, furnishings and white goods in communal areas of the building.
 Waste/Rubbish removal and Bin Hire	The cost of maintaining, decontamination and repair of refuse collection and refuse containers. The cost of removing rubbish including items that have been fly-tipped on the scheme.

Types of service charge costs continued

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Gardening and Tree Work	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by third party contractors.
 Ground Rent	An annual charge, known as ground rent, may be charged to a leaseholder by the freeholder. This is stated in the lease.
 Heating Repairs & Maintenance	The cost of maintaining and repairing any communal heating system.
 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.

 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

This demand is issued in accordance with section 47 & 48 of the Landlord and Tenant Act 1987.
Notices can be serviced to the address given above.

We know that your service charges may vary each year as the costs associated with managing your scheme might change.

However, when calculating your service charge, we also take into account any year on year increase against your estimate and if we have informed you of any change to services following formal consultation.

Therefore, if service charges appear high we may decide to apply a discount which will be reflected in your overall charge.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Types of service charge costs

Depending on your home and the services you receive, and any specific terms in your lease, you may be required to pay for one or more service charge elements. A list of what you may pay for and a brief description is shown below:

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Accountancy Fee	The cost of providing the Accountant's Report to accompany your service charge statement if it is required by your lease
 Aids & Adaptations (in communal areas)	The cost of the provision, repair and maintaining of adaptations in communal areas
 Alarm, Aerial, Door Entry and General Servicing	The cost of providing, servicing, maintaining and testing systems and equipment in communal areas which may include, but is not limited to: TV aerials External alarms and CCTV Door entry systems Fire alarms and emergency lighting Entry gates and barriers Laundry equipment Air conditioning and ventilation
 Building Insurance	The cost of building insurance on properties we own. This does not include contents insurance, which is your responsibility to arrange with a provider of your choice.
 Cleaning	The cost of cleaning communal areas to the block such as corridors, stairwells, windows, flooring, communal lounges and kitchens.
 Communal Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of electricity for all communal lighting internal to the block or street lighting for the scheme (when not owned and maintained by the local authority.) The cost of fuel to heat and provide hot water to communal rooms including shared bathrooms, lounges and kitchens. The cost of communal water supply to gardens, kitchens, bathrooms, bin stores and sewage pumps.
 Communal Lift Maintenance	The cost of maintaining, cleaning, repair, insurance or replacement of lifts in communal areas.
 Communal Repairs	The cost of repairing and maintaining communal areas of the block or scheme. Most repairs are covered by the rent, but some communal repairs are charged through service charges.
 Environmental (including pest control)	The cost of sewerage charges, gritting services and costs incurred in clearing vermin, including pesticides and pest control contracts.
 Estate Services Costs	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by Guinness staff.
 Fixtures, Fittings and White Goods	The cost of maintaining, servicing (including periodic cleaning), renewal of furniture, furnishings and white goods in communal areas of the building.
 Waste/Rubbish removal and Bin Hire	The cost of maintaining, decontamination and repair of refuse collection and refuse containers. The cost of removing rubbish including items that have been fly-tipped on the scheme.

Types of service charge costs continued

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Gardening and Tree Work	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by third party contractors.
 Ground Rent	An annual charge, known as ground rent, may be charged to a leaseholder by the freeholder. This is stated in the lease.
 Heating Repairs & Maintenance	The cost of maintaining and repairing any communal heating system.
 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.
 Risk Assessment and Monitoring	The cost of statutory servicing and periodic risk assessments which may include fire risk assessments, legionella risk assessments and, for leaseholders, gas safety checks.
 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

We know that your service charges may vary each year as the costs associated with managing your scheme might change.

However, when calculating your service charge, we also take into account any year on year increase against your estimate and if we have informed you of any change to services following formal consultation.

Therefore, if service charges appear high we may decide to apply a discount which will be reflected in your overall charge.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Types of service charge costs

Depending on your home and the services you receive, and any specific terms in your lease, you may be required to pay for one or more service charge elements. A list of what you may pay for and a brief description is shown below:

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Accountancy Fee	The cost of providing the Accountant's Report to accompany your service charge statement if it is required by your lease
 Aids & Adaptations (in communal areas)	The cost of the provision, repair and maintaining of adaptations in communal areas
 Alarm, Aerial, Door Entry and General Servicing	The cost of providing, servicing, maintaining and testing systems and equipment in communal areas which may include, but is not limited to: TV aerials External alarms and CCTV Door entry systems Fire alarms and emergency lighting Entry gates and barriers Laundry equipment Air conditioning and ventilation
 Building Insurance	The cost of building insurance on properties we own. This does not include contents insurance, which is your responsibility to arrange with a provider of your choice.
 Cleaning	The cost of cleaning communal areas to the block such as corridors, stairwells, windows, flooring, communal lounges and kitchens.
 Communal Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of electricity for all communal lighting internal to the block or street lighting for the scheme (when not owned and maintained by the local authority.) The cost of fuel to heat and provide hot water to communal rooms including shared bathrooms, lounges and kitchens. The cost of communal water supply to gardens, kitchens, bathrooms, bin stores and sewage pumps.
 Communal Lift Maintenance	The cost of maintaining, cleaning, repair, insurance or replacement of lifts in communal areas.
 Communal Repairs	The cost of repairing and maintaining communal areas of the block or scheme. Most repairs are covered by the rent, but some communal repairs are charged through service charges.
 Environmental (including pest control)	The cost of sewerage charges, gritting services and costs incurred in clearing vermin, including pesticides and pest control contracts.
 Estate Services Costs	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by Guinness staff.
 Fixtures, Fittings and White Goods	The cost of maintaining, servicing (including periodic cleaning), renewal of furniture, furnishings and white goods in communal areas of the building.
 Waste/Rubbish removal and Bin Hire	The cost of maintaining, decontamination and repair of refuse collection and refuse containers. The cost of removing rubbish including items that have been fly-tipped on the scheme.

Types of service charge costs continued

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Gardening and Tree Work	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by third party contractors.
 Ground Rent	An annual charge, known as ground rent, may be charged to a leaseholder by the freeholder. This is stated in the lease.
 Heating Repairs & Maintenance	The cost of maintaining and repairing any communal heating system.
 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.
 Risk Assessment and Monitoring	The cost of statutory servicing and periodic risk assessments which may include fire risk assessments, legionella risk assessments and, for leaseholders, gas safety checks.
 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 Building Insurance	The cost of building insurance on properties we own. This does not include contents insurance, which is your responsibility to arrange with a provider of your choice.
 Cleaning	The cost of cleaning communal areas to the block such as corridors, stairwells, windows, flooring, communal lounges and kitchens.
 Communal Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of electricity for all communal lighting internal to the block or street lighting for the scheme (when not owned and maintained by the local authority.) The cost of fuel to heat and provide hot water to communal rooms including shared bathrooms, lounges and kitchens. The cost of communal water supply to gardens, kitchens, bathrooms, bin stores and sewage pumps.
 Communal Lift Maintenance	The cost of maintaining, cleaning, repair, insurance or replacement of lifts in communal areas.
 Communal Repairs	The cost of repairing and maintaining communal areas of the block or scheme. Most repairs are covered by the rent, but some communal repairs are charged through service charges.
 Environmental (including pest control)	The cost of sewerage charges, gritting services and costs incurred in clearing vermin, including pesticides and pest control contracts.
 Estate Services Costs	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by Guinness staff.
 Fixtures, Fittings and White Goods	The cost of maintaining, servicing (including periodic cleaning), renewal of furniture, furnishings and white goods in communal areas of the building.
 Waste/Rubbish removal and Bin Hire	The cost of maintaining, decontamination and repair of refuse collection and refuse containers. The cost of removing rubbish including items that have been fly-tipped on the scheme.

Types of service charge costs continued

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Gardening and Tree Work	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by third party contractors.
 Ground Rent	An annual charge, known as ground rent, may be charged to a leaseholder by the freeholder. This is stated in the lease.
 Heating Repairs & Maintenance	The cost of maintaining and repairing any communal heating system.
 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.
 Risk Assessment and Monitoring	The cost of statutory servicing and periodic risk assessments which may include fire risk assessments, legionella risk assessments and, for leaseholders, gas safety checks.
 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

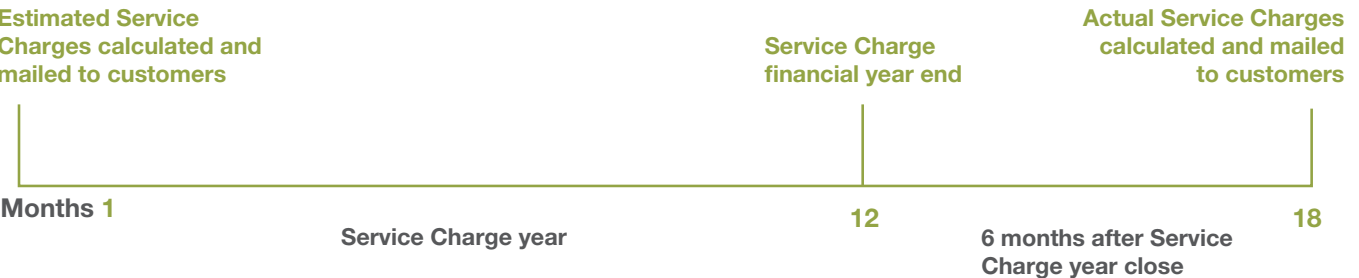

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 Building Insurance	The cost of building insurance on properties we own. This does not include contents insurance, which is your responsibility to arrange with a provider of your choice.
 Cleaning	The cost of cleaning communal areas to the block such as corridors, stairwells, windows, flooring, communal lounges and kitchens.
 Communal Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of electricity for all communal lighting internal to the block or street lighting for the scheme (when not owned and maintained by the local authority.) The cost of fuel to heat and provide hot water to communal rooms including shared bathrooms, lounges and kitchens. The cost of communal water supply to gardens, kitchens, bathrooms, bin stores and sewage pumps.
 Communal Lift Maintenance	The cost of maintaining, cleaning, repair, insurance or replacement of lifts in communal areas.
 Communal Repairs	The cost of repairing and maintaining communal areas of the block or scheme. Most repairs are covered by the rent, but some communal repairs are charged through service charges.
 Environmental (including pest control)	The cost of sewerage charges, gritting services and costs incurred in clearing vermin, including pesticides and pest control contracts.
 Estate Services Costs	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by Guinness staff.
 Fixtures, Fittings and White Goods	The cost of maintaining, servicing (including periodic cleaning), renewal of furniture, furnishings and white goods in communal areas of the building.
 Waste/Rubbish removal and Bin Hire	The cost of maintaining, decontamination and repair of refuse collection and refuse containers. The cost of removing rubbish including items that have been fly-tipped on the scheme.

Types of service charge costs continued

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Gardening and Tree Work	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by third party contractors.
 Ground Rent	An annual charge, known as ground rent, may be charged to a leaseholder by the freeholder. This is stated in the lease.
 Heating Repairs & Maintenance	The cost of maintaining and repairing any communal heating system.
 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.

 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 Building Insurance	The cost of building insurance on properties we own. This does not include contents insurance, which is your responsibility to arrange with a provider of your choice.
 Cleaning	The cost of cleaning communal areas to the block such as corridors, stairwells, windows, flooring, communal lounges and kitchens.
 Communal Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of electricity for all communal lighting internal to the block or street lighting for the scheme (when not owned and maintained by the local authority.) The cost of fuel to heat and provide hot water to communal rooms including shared bathrooms, lounges and kitchens. The cost of communal water supply to gardens, kitchens, bathrooms, bin stores and sewage pumps.
 Communal Lift Maintenance	The cost of maintaining, cleaning, repair, insurance or replacement of lifts in communal areas.
 Communal Repairs	The cost of repairing and maintaining communal areas of the block or scheme. Most repairs are covered by the rent, but some communal repairs are charged through service charges.
 Environmental (including pest control)	The cost of sewerage charges, gritting services and costs incurred in clearing vermin, including pesticides and pest control contracts.
 Estate Services Costs	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by Guinness staff.
 Fixtures, Fittings and White Goods	The cost of maintaining, servicing (including periodic cleaning), renewal of furniture, furnishings and white goods in communal areas of the building.
 Waste/Rubbish removal and Bin Hire	The cost of maintaining, decontamination and repair of refuse collection and refuse containers. The cost of removing rubbish including items that have been fly-tipped on the scheme.

Types of service charge costs continued

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Gardening and Tree Work	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by third party contractors.
 Ground Rent	An annual charge, known as ground rent, may be charged to a leaseholder by the freeholder. This is stated in the lease.
 Heating Repairs & Maintenance	The cost of maintaining and repairing any communal heating system.
 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.

 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.
 Risk Assessment and Monitoring	The cost of statutory servicing and periodic risk assessments which may include fire risk assessments, legionella risk assessments and, for leaseholders, gas safety checks.
 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

We know that your service charges may vary each year as the costs associated with managing your scheme might change.

However, when calculating your service charge, we also take into account any year on year increase against your estimate and if we have informed you of any change to services following formal consultation.

Therefore, if service charges appear high we may decide to apply a discount which will be reflected in your overall charge.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Types of service charge costs

Depending on your home and the services you receive, and any specific terms in your lease, you may be required to pay for one or more service charge elements. A list of what you may pay for and a brief description is shown below:

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Accountancy Fee	The cost of providing the Accountant's Report to accompany your service charge statement if it is required by your lease
 Aids & Adaptations (in communal areas)	The cost of the provision, repair and maintaining of adaptations in communal areas
 Alarm, Aerial, Door Entry and General Servicing	The cost of providing, servicing, maintaining and testing systems and equipment in communal areas which may include, but is not limited to: TV aerials External alarms and CCTV Door entry systems Fire alarms and emergency lighting Entry gates and barriers Laundry equipment Air conditioning and ventilation
 Building Insurance	The cost of building insurance on properties we own. This does not include contents insurance, which is your responsibility to arrange with a provider of your choice.
 Cleaning	The cost of cleaning communal areas to the block such as corridors, stairwells, windows, flooring, communal lounges and kitchens.
 Communal Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of electricity for all communal lighting internal to the block or street lighting for the scheme (when not owned and maintained by the local authority.) The cost of fuel to heat and provide hot water to communal rooms including shared bathrooms, lounges and kitchens. The cost of communal water supply to gardens, kitchens, bathrooms, bin stores and sewage pumps.
 Communal Lift Maintenance	The cost of maintaining, cleaning, repair, insurance or replacement of lifts in communal areas.
 Communal Repairs	The cost of repairing and maintaining communal areas of the block or scheme. Most repairs are covered by the rent, but some communal repairs are charged through service charges.
 Environmental (including pest control)	The cost of sewerage charges, gritting services and costs incurred in clearing vermin, including pesticides and pest control contracts.
 Estate Services Costs	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by Guinness staff.
 Fixtures, Fittings and White Goods	The cost of maintaining, servicing (including periodic cleaning), renewal of furniture, furnishings and white goods in communal areas of the building.
 Waste/Rubbish removal and Bin Hire	The cost of maintaining, decontamination and repair of refuse collection and refuse containers. The cost of removing rubbish including items that have been fly-tipped on the scheme.

Types of service charge costs continued

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Gardening and Tree Work	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by third party contractors.
 Ground Rent	An annual charge, known as ground rent, may be charged to a leaseholder by the freeholder. This is stated in the lease.
 Heating Repairs & Maintenance	The cost of maintaining and repairing any communal heating system.
 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.
 Risk Assessment and Monitoring	The cost of statutory servicing and periodic risk assessments which may include fire risk assessments, legionella risk assessments and, for leaseholders, gas safety checks.
 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Types of service charge costs

Depending on your home and the services you receive, and any specific terms in your lease, you may be required to pay for one or more service charge elements. A list of what you may pay for and a brief description is shown below:

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Accountancy Fee	The cost of providing the Accountant's Report to accompany your service charge statement if it is required by your lease
 Aids & Adaptations (in communal areas)	The cost of the provision, repair and maintaining of adaptations in communal areas
 Alarm, Aerial, Door Entry and General Servicing	The cost of providing, servicing, maintaining and testing systems and equipment in communal areas which may include, but is not limited to: TV aerials External alarms and CCTV Door entry systems Fire alarms and emergency lighting Entry gates and barriers Laundry equipment Air conditioning and ventilation
 Building Insurance	The cost of building insurance on properties we own. This does not include contents insurance, which is your responsibility to arrange with a provider of your choice.
 Cleaning	The cost of cleaning communal areas to the block such as corridors, stairwells, windows, flooring, communal lounges and kitchens.
 Communal Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of electricity for all communal lighting internal to the block or street lighting for the scheme (when not owned and maintained by the local authority.) The cost of fuel to heat and provide hot water to communal rooms including shared bathrooms, lounges and kitchens. The cost of communal water supply to gardens, kitchens, bathrooms, bin stores and sewage pumps.
 Communal Lift Maintenance	The cost of maintaining, cleaning, repair, insurance or replacement of lifts in communal areas.
 Communal Repairs	The cost of repairing and maintaining communal areas of the block or scheme. Most repairs are covered by the rent, but some communal repairs are charged through service charges.
 Environmental (including pest control)	The cost of sewerage charges, gritting services and costs incurred in clearing vermin, including pesticides and pest control contracts.
 Estate Services Costs	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by Guinness staff.
 Fixtures, Fittings and White Goods	The cost of maintaining, servicing (including periodic cleaning), renewal of furniture, furnishings and white goods in communal areas of the building.
 Waste/Rubbish removal and Bin Hire	The cost of maintaining, decontamination and repair of refuse collection and refuse containers. The cost of removing rubbish including items that have been fly-tipped on the scheme.

Types of service charge costs continued

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Gardening and Tree Work	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by third party contractors.
 Ground Rent	An annual charge, known as ground rent, may be charged to a leaseholder by the freeholder. This is stated in the lease.
 Heating Repairs & Maintenance	The cost of maintaining and repairing any communal heating system.
 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.
 Risk Assessment and Monitoring	The cost of statutory servicing and periodic risk assessments which may include fire risk assessments, legionella risk assessments and, for leaseholders, gas safety checks.
 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Types of service charge costs

Depending on your home and the services you receive, and any specific terms in your lease, you may be required to pay for one or more service charge elements. A list of what you may pay for and a brief description is shown below:

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Accountancy Fee	The cost of providing the Accountant's Report to accompany your service charge statement if it is required by your lease
 Aids & Adaptations (in communal areas)	The cost of the provision, repair and maintaining of adaptations in communal areas
 Alarm, Aerial, Door Entry and General Servicing	The cost of providing, servicing, maintaining and testing systems and equipment in communal areas which may include, but is not limited to: TV aerials External alarms and CCTV Door entry systems Fire alarms and emergency lighting Entry gates and barriers Laundry equipment Air conditioning and ventilation
 Building Insurance	The cost of building insurance on properties we own. This does not include contents insurance, which is your responsibility to arrange with a provider of your choice.
 Cleaning	The cost of cleaning communal areas to the block such as corridors, stairwells, windows, flooring, communal lounges and kitchens.
 Communal Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of electricity for all communal lighting internal to the block or street lighting for the scheme (when not owned and maintained by the local authority.) The cost of fuel to heat and provide hot water to communal rooms including shared bathrooms, lounges and kitchens. The cost of communal water supply to gardens, kitchens, bathrooms, bin stores and sewage pumps.
 Communal Lift Maintenance	The cost of maintaining, cleaning, repair, insurance or replacement of lifts in communal areas.
 Communal Repairs	The cost of repairing and maintaining communal areas of the block or scheme. Most repairs are covered by the rent, but some communal repairs are charged through service charges.
 Environmental (including pest control)	The cost of sewerage charges, gritting services and costs incurred in clearing vermin, including pesticides and pest control contracts.
 Estate Services Costs	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by Guinness staff.
 Fixtures, Fittings and White Goods	The cost of maintaining, servicing (including periodic cleaning), renewal of furniture, furnishings and white goods in communal areas of the building.
 Waste/Rubbish removal and Bin Hire	The cost of maintaining, decontamination and repair of refuse collection and refuse containers. The cost of removing rubbish including items that have been fly-tipped on the scheme.

Types of service charge costs continued

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Gardening and Tree Work	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by third party contractors.
 Ground Rent	An annual charge, known as ground rent, may be charged to a leaseholder by the freeholder. This is stated in the lease.
 Heating Repairs & Maintenance	The cost of maintaining and repairing any communal heating system.
 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.
 Risk Assessment and Monitoring	The cost of statutory servicing and periodic risk assessments which may include fire risk assessments, legionella risk assessments and, for leaseholders, gas safety checks.
 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 Risk Assessment and Monitoring	The cost of statutory servicing and periodic risk assessments which may include fire risk assessments, legionella risk assessments and, for leaseholders, gas safety checks.
 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

Estimates

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

How do variable service charges work?

Types of service charge costs.....

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

This demand is issued in accordance with section 47 & 48 of the Landlord and Tenant Act 1987.
Notices can be serviced to the address given above.

We know that your service charges may vary each year as the costs associated with managing your scheme might change.

However, when calculating your service charge, we also take into account any year on year increase against your estimate and if we have informed you of any change to services following formal consultation.

Therefore, if service charges appear high we may decide to apply a discount which will be reflected in your overall charge.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 Cleaning	The cost of cleaning communal areas to the block such as corridors, stairwells, windows, flooring, communal lounges and kitchens.
 Communal Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of electricity for all communal lighting internal to the block or street lighting for the scheme (when not owned and maintained by the local authority.) The cost of fuel to heat and provide hot water to communal rooms including shared bathrooms, lounges and kitchens. The cost of communal water supply to gardens, kitchens, bathrooms, bin stores and sewage pumps.
 Communal Lift Maintenance	The cost of maintaining, cleaning, repair, insurance or replacement of lifts in communal areas.
 Communal Repairs	The cost of repairing and maintaining communal areas of the block or scheme. Most repairs are covered by the rent, but some communal repairs are charged through service charges.
 Environmental (including pest control)	The cost of sewerage charges, gritting services and costs incurred in clearing vermin, including pesticides and pest control contracts.
 Estate Services Costs	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by Guinness staff.
 Fixtures, Fittings and White Goods	The cost of maintaining, servicing (including periodic cleaning), renewal of furniture, furnishings and white goods in communal areas of the building.
 Waste/Rubbish removal and Bin Hire	The cost of maintaining, decontamination and repair of refuse collection and refuse containers. The cost of removing rubbish including items that have been fly-tipped on the scheme.

Types of service charge costs continued

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Gardening and Tree Work	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by third party contractors.
 Ground Rent	An annual charge, known as ground rent, may be charged to a leaseholder by the freeholder. This is stated in the lease.
 Heating Repairs & Maintenance	The cost of maintaining and repairing any communal heating system.
 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.

 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.
 Risk Assessment and Monitoring	The cost of statutory servicing and periodic risk assessments which may include fire risk assessments, legionella risk assessments and, for leaseholders, gas safety checks.
 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Dear MR C DIAZ

Please find enclosed your annual service charge statement. Your weekly or monthly service charges are not changing.

Your service charge statement will show if you have a surplus or deficit for the year.

- If you have a deficit, you will need to pay this amount immediately. You can make a payment online at www.allpay.net or by calling us and using our automated payment line.
- If you have a surplus, there is no need to contact us, we will be in touch about a possible refund.

This statement provides a breakdown of your actual service charges for the period 1 April 2020 to 31 March 2021 and provides a comparison with the estimated charges we sent 18 months ago.

With this letter you will find:

- Your service charge statement which shows the actual cost of providing your services last year;
- An explanation of what the service charges you pay for cover;
- Your accountant's report;
- A Summary of Tenant's Rights and Obligations.

If you are worried about paying your charges, want to set up a direct debit, or need to discuss your account, you can contact us through our website www.guinnesspartnership.com, through Live Chat or you can talk to us on 0303 123 1890.

Kind regards

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Service Charge Accounts

Accountants Report of the Factual Findings to the Landlord of Gibson Road

You have stated that an audit of the service charge accounts in accordance with International Standards on Auditing is not required under the terms of the lease for Gibson Road. In accordance with our engagement letter dated 13th August 2021, we have performed procedures agreed with you and enumerated below with respect to the service charge accounts set out on the attached pages for the year ended 31st March 2021 in order to provide a report of factual findings about the service charge accounts that you have issued. This report is made to the landlord for issue with the service charge accounts in accordance with the terms of our engagement. Our work has been undertaken to enable us to make this report to the Landlord and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent of the law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the Landlord for our work or for this report.

Basis of report

Our work was carried out having regard to TECH 03/11 Residential Service Charge Accounts published jointly by the professional accountancy bodies with ARMA and RICS. In summary, the procedures we carried out with respect to the service charge accounts were:

- (1) We obtained the service charge accounts and checked whether the figures in the accounts were extracted correctly from the accounting records maintained by or on behalf of the Landlord.
- (2) We checked, based on a sample, whether entries in the accounting records were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected.

Because the above procedures do not constitute either an audit or a review made in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or the International Standards on Review Engagements, we do not express any assurance on the service charge accounts other than in making the factual statements set out below.

Had we performed additional procedures or had we performed an audit or review of the financial statements in accordance with the International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or International Standard on Review Engagements, other matters might have come to our attention that would have been reported to you.

Report of factual findings

- (a) With respect to item 1 we found the figures in the statement of account to have been extracted correctly from the accounting records.
- (b) With respect to item 2 we found that those entries in the accounting records that we checked were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

How do variable service charges work?

Types of service charge costs.....

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

Notices can be serviced to the address given above.

We know that your service charges may vary each year as the costs associated with managing your scheme might change.

However, when calculating your service charge, we also take into account any year on year increase against your estimate and if we have informed you of any change to services following formal consultation.

Therefore, if service charges appear high we may decide to apply a discount which will be reflected in your overall charge.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Service Charge Accounts

Accountants Report of the Factual Findings to the Landlord of NETHERNE ON THE HILL

You have stated that an audit of the service charge accounts in accordance with International Standards on Auditing is not required under the terms of the lease for NETHERNE ON THE HILL. In accordance with our engagement letter dated 13th August 2021, we have performed procedures agreed with you and enumerated below with respect to the service charge accounts set out on the attached pages for the year ended 31st March 2021 in order to provide a report of factual findings about the service charge accounts that you have issued. This report is made to the landlord for issue with the service charge accounts in accordance with the terms of our engagement. Our work has been undertaken to enable us to make this report to the Landlord and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent of the law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the Landlord for our work or for this report.

Basis of report

Our work was carried out having regard to TECH 03/11 Residential Service Charge Accounts published jointly by the professional accountancy bodies with ARMA and RICS. In summary, the procedures we carried out with respect to the service charge accounts were:

- (1) We obtained the service charge accounts and checked whether the figures in the accounts were extracted correctly from the accounting records maintained by or on behalf of the Landlord.
- (2) We checked, based on a sample, whether entries in the accounting records were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected.

Because the above procedures do not constitute either an audit or a review made in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or the International Standards on Review Engagements, we do not express any assurance on the service charge accounts other than in making the factual statements set out below.

Had we performed additional procedures or had we performed an audit or review of the financial statements in accordance with the International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or International Standard on Review Engagements, other matters might have come to our attention that would have been reported to you.

Report of factual findings

- (a) With respect to item 1 we found the figures in the statement of account to have been extracted correctly from the accounting records.
- (b) With respect to item 2 we found that those entries in the accounting records that we checked were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Types of service charge costs

Depending on your home and the services you receive, and any specific terms in your lease, you may be required to pay for one or more service charge elements. A list of what you may pay for and a brief description is shown below:

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Accountancy Fee	The cost of providing the Accountant's Report to accompany your service charge statement if it is required by your lease
 Aids & Adaptations (in communal areas)	The cost of the provision, repair and maintaining of adaptations in communal areas
 Alarm, Aerial, Door Entry and General Servicing	The cost of providing, servicing, maintaining and testing systems and equipment in communal areas which may include, but is not limited to: TV aerials External alarms and CCTV Door entry systems Fire alarms and emergency lighting Entry gates and barriers Laundry equipment Air conditioning and ventilation
 Building Insurance	The cost of building insurance on properties we own. This does not include contents insurance, which is your responsibility to arrange with a provider of your choice.
 Cleaning	The cost of cleaning communal areas to the block such as corridors, stairwells, windows, flooring, communal lounges and kitchens.
 Communal Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of electricity for all communal lighting internal to the block or street lighting for the scheme (when not owned and maintained by the local authority.) The cost of fuel to heat and provide hot water to communal rooms including shared bathrooms, lounges and kitchens. The cost of communal water supply to gardens, kitchens, bathrooms, bin stores and sewage pumps.
 Communal Lift Maintenance	The cost of maintaining, cleaning, repair, insurance or replacement of lifts in communal areas.
 Communal Repairs	The cost of repairing and maintaining communal areas of the block or scheme. Most repairs are covered by the rent, but some communal repairs are charged through service charges.
 Environmental (including pest control)	The cost of sewerage charges, gritting services and costs incurred in clearing vermin, including pesticides and pest control contracts.
 Estate Services Costs	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by Guinness staff.
 Fixtures, Fittings and White Goods	The cost of maintaining, servicing (including periodic cleaning), renewal of furniture, furnishings and white goods in communal areas of the building.
 Waste/Rubbish removal and Bin Hire	The cost of maintaining, decontamination and repair of refuse collection and refuse containers. The cost of removing rubbish including items that have been fly-tipped on the scheme.

Types of service charge costs continued

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Gardening and Tree Work	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by third party contractors.
 Ground Rent	An annual charge, known as ground rent, may be charged to a leaseholder by the freeholder. This is stated in the lease.
 Heating Repairs & Maintenance	The cost of maintaining and repairing any communal heating system.
 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.
 Risk Assessment and Monitoring	The cost of statutory servicing and periodic risk assessments which may include fire risk assessments, legionella risk assessments and, for leaseholders, gas safety checks.
 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

Service Charge Accounts

Accountants Report of the Factual Findings to the Landlord of NETHERNE ON THE HILL

You have stated that an audit of the service charge accounts in accordance with International Standards on Auditing is not required under the terms of the lease for NETHERNE ON THE HILL. In accordance with our engagement letter dated 13th August 2021, we have performed procedures agreed with you and enumerated below with respect to the service charge accounts set out on the attached pages for the year ended 31st March 2021 in order to provide a report of factual findings about the service charge accounts that you have issued. This report is made to the landlord for issue with the service charge accounts in accordance with the terms of our engagement. Our work has been undertaken to enable us to make this report to the Landlord and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent of the law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the Landlord for our work or for this report.

Basis of report

Our work was carried out having regard to TECH 03/11 Residential Service Charge Accounts published jointly by the professional accountancy bodies with ARMA and RICS. In summary, the procedures we carried out with respect to the service charge accounts were:

- (1) We obtained the service charge accounts and checked whether the figures in the accounts were extracted correctly from the accounting records maintained by or on behalf of the Landlord.
- (2) We checked, based on a sample, whether entries in the accounting records were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected.

Because the above procedures do not constitute either an audit or a review made in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or the International Standards on Review Engagements, we do not express any assurance on the service charge accounts other than in making the factual statements set out below.

Had we performed additional procedures or had we performed an audit or review of the financial statements in accordance with the International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or International Standard on Review Engagements, other matters might have come to our attention that would have been reported to you.

Report of factual findings

- (a) With respect to item 1 we found the figures in the statement of account to have been extracted correctly from the accounting records.
- (b) With respect to item 2 we found that those entries in the accounting records that we checked were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

Accountants Report of the Factual Findings to the Landlord of NETHERNE ON THE HILL

You have stated that an audit of the service charge accounts in accordance with International Standards on Auditing is not required under the terms of the lease for NETHERNE ON THE HILL. In accordance with our engagement letter dated 13th August 2021, we have performed procedures agreed with you and enumerated below with respect to the service charge accounts set out on the attached pages for the year ended 31st March 2021 in order to provide a report of factual findings about the service charge accounts that you have issued. This report is made to the landlord for issue with the service charge accounts in accordance with the terms of our engagement. Our work has been undertaken to enable us to make this report to the Landlord and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent of the law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the Landlord for our work or for this report.

Basis of report

Our work was carried out having regard to TECH 03/11 Residential Service Charge Accounts published jointly by the professional accountancy bodies with ARMA and RICS. In summary, the procedures we carried out with respect to the service charge accounts were:

- (1) We obtained the service charge accounts and checked whether the figures in the accounts were extracted correctly from the accounting records maintained by or on behalf of the Landlord.
- (2) We checked, based on a sample, whether entries in the accounting records were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected.

Because the above procedures do not constitute either an audit or a review made in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or the International Standards on Review Engagements, we do not express any assurance on the service charge accounts other than in making the factual statements set out below.

Had we performed additional procedures or had we performed an audit or review of the financial statements in accordance with the International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or International Standard on Review Engagements, other matters might have come to our attention that would have been reported to you.

Report of factual findings

- (a) With respect to item 1 we found the figures in the statement of account to have been extracted correctly from the accounting records.
- (b) With respect to item 2 we found that those entries in the accounting records that we checked were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 Cleaning	The cost of cleaning communal areas to the block such as corridors, stairwells, windows, flooring, communal lounges and kitchens.
 Communal Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of electricity for all communal lighting internal to the block or street lighting for the scheme (when not owned and maintained by the local authority.) The cost of fuel to heat and provide hot water to communal rooms including shared bathrooms, lounges and kitchens. The cost of communal water supply to gardens, kitchens, bathrooms, bin stores and sewage pumps.
 Communal Lift Maintenance	The cost of maintaining, cleaning, repair, insurance or replacement of lifts in communal areas.
 Communal Repairs	The cost of repairing and maintaining communal areas of the block or scheme. Most repairs are covered by the rent, but some communal repairs are charged through service charges.
 Environmental (including pest control)	The cost of sewerage charges, gritting services and costs incurred in clearing vermin, including pesticides and pest control contracts.
 Estate Services Costs	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by Guinness staff.
 Fixtures, Fittings and White Goods	The cost of maintaining, servicing (including periodic cleaning), renewal of furniture, furnishings and white goods in communal areas of the building.
 Waste/Rubbish removal and Bin Hire	The cost of maintaining, decontamination and repair of refuse collection and refuse containers. The cost of removing rubbish including items that have been fly-tipped on the scheme.

Types of service charge costs continued

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Gardening and Tree Work	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by third party contractors.
 Ground Rent	An annual charge, known as ground rent, may be charged to a leaseholder by the freeholder. This is stated in the lease.
 Heating Repairs & Maintenance	The cost of maintaining and repairing any communal heating system.
 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.
 Risk Assessment and Monitoring	The cost of statutory servicing and periodic risk assessments which may include fire risk assessments, legionella risk assessments and, for leaseholders, gas safety checks.

 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

Service Charge Accounts

Accountants Report of the Factual Findings to the Landlord of NETHERNE ON THE HILL

You have stated that an audit of the service charge accounts in accordance with International Standards on Auditing is not required under the terms of the lease for NETHERNE ON THE HILL. In accordance with our engagement letter dated 13th August 2021, we have performed procedures agreed with you and enumerated below with respect to the service charge accounts set out on the attached pages for the year ended 31st March 2021 in order to provide a report of factual findings about the service charge accounts that you have issued. This report is made to the landlord for issue with the service charge accounts in accordance with the terms of our engagement. Our work has been undertaken to enable us to make this report to the Landlord and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent of the law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the Landlord for our work or for this report.

Basis of report

Our work was carried out having regard to TECH 03/11 Residential Service Charge Accounts published jointly by the professional accountancy bodies with ARMA and RICS. In summary, the procedures we carried out with respect to the service charge accounts were:

- (1) We obtained the service charge accounts and checked whether the figures in the accounts were extracted correctly from the accounting records maintained by or on behalf of the Landlord.
- (2) We checked, based on a sample, whether entries in the accounting records were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected.

Because the above procedures do not constitute either an audit or a review made in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or the International Standards on Review Engagements, we do not express any assurance on the service charge accounts other than in making the factual statements set out below.

Had we performed additional procedures or had we performed an audit or review of the financial statements in accordance with the International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or International Standard on Review Engagements, other matters might have come to our attention that would have been reported to you.

Report of factual findings

- (a) With respect to item 1 we found the figures in the statement of account to have been extracted correctly from the accounting records.
- (b) With respect to item 2 we found that those entries in the accounting records that we checked were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.
 Risk Assessment and Monitoring	The cost of statutory servicing and periodic risk assessments which may include fire risk assessments, legionella risk assessments and, for leaseholders, gas safety checks.
 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

Accountants Report of the Factual Findings to the Landlord of NETHERNE ON THE HILL

You have stated that an audit of the service charge accounts in accordance with International Standards on Auditing is not required under the terms of the lease for NETHERNE ON THE HILL. In accordance with our engagement letter dated 13th August 2021, we have performed procedures agreed with you and enumerated below with respect to the service charge accounts set out on the attached pages for the year ended 31st March 2021 in order to provide a report of factual findings about the service charge accounts that you have issued. This report is made to the landlord for issue with the service charge accounts in accordance with the terms of our engagement. Our work has been undertaken to enable us to make this report to the Landlord and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent of the law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the Landlord for our work or for this report.

Basis of report

Our work was carried out having regard to TECH 03/11 Residential Service Charge Accounts published jointly by the professional accountancy bodies with ARMA and RICS. In summary, the procedures we carried out with respect to the service charge accounts were:

- (1) We obtained the service charge accounts and checked whether the figures in the accounts were extracted correctly from the accounting records maintained by or on behalf of the Landlord.
- (2) We checked, based on a sample, whether entries in the accounting records were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected.

Because the above procedures do not constitute either an audit or a review made in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or the International Standards on Review Engagements, we do not express any assurance on the service charge accounts other than in making the factual statements set out below.

Had we performed additional procedures or had we performed an audit or review of the financial statements in accordance with the International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or International Standard on Review Engagements, other matters might have come to our attention that would have been reported to you.

Report of factual findings

- (a) With respect to item 1 we found the figures in the statement of account to have been extracted correctly from the accounting records.
- (b) With respect to item 2 we found that those entries in the accounting records that we checked were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

Service Charge Accounts

Accountants Report of the Factual Findings to the Landlord of NETHERNE ON THE HILL

You have stated that an audit of the service charge accounts in accordance with International Standards on Auditing is not required under the terms of the lease for NETHERNE ON THE HILL. In accordance with our engagement letter dated 13th August 2021, we have performed procedures agreed with you and enumerated below with respect to the service charge accounts set out on the attached pages for the year ended 31st March 2021 in order to provide a report of factual findings about the service charge accounts that you have issued. This report is made to the landlord for issue with the service charge accounts in accordance with the terms of our engagement. Our work has been undertaken to enable us to make this report to the Landlord and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent of the law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the Landlord for our work or for this report.

Basis of report

Our work was carried out having regard to TECH 03/11 Residential Service Charge Accounts published jointly by the professional accountancy bodies with ARMA and RICS. In summary, the procedures we carried out with respect to the service charge accounts were:

- (1) We obtained the service charge accounts and checked whether the figures in the accounts were extracted correctly from the accounting records maintained by or on behalf of the Landlord.
- (2) We checked, based on a sample, whether entries in the accounting records were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected.

Because the above procedures do not constitute either an audit or a review made in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or the International Standards on Review Engagements, we do not express any assurance on the service charge accounts other than in making the factual statements set out below.

Had we performed additional procedures or had we performed an audit or review of the financial statements in accordance with the International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or International Standard on Review Engagements, other matters might have come to our attention that would have been reported to you.

Report of factual findings

- (a) With respect to item 1 we found the figures in the statement of account to have been extracted correctly from the accounting records.
- (b) With respect to item 2 we found that those entries in the accounting records that we checked were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

Accountants Report of the Factual Findings to the Landlord of NETHERNE ON THE HILL

You have stated that an audit of the service charge accounts in accordance with International Standards on Auditing is not required under the terms of the lease for NETHERNE ON THE HILL. In accordance with our engagement letter dated 13th August 2021, we have performed procedures agreed with you and enumerated below with respect to the service charge accounts set out on the attached pages for the year ended 31st March 2021 in order to provide a report of factual findings about the service charge accounts that you have issued. This report is made to the landlord for issue with the service charge accounts in accordance with the terms of our engagement. Our work has been undertaken to enable us to make this report to the Landlord and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent of the law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the Landlord for our work or for this report.

Basis of report

Our work was carried out having regard to TECH 03/11 Residential Service Charge Accounts published jointly by the professional accountancy bodies with ARMA and RICS. In summary, the procedures we carried out with respect to the service charge accounts were:

- (1) We obtained the service charge accounts and checked whether the figures in the accounts were extracted correctly from the accounting records maintained by or on behalf of the Landlord.
- (2) We checked, based on a sample, whether entries in the accounting records were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected.

Because the above procedures do not constitute either an audit or a review made in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or the International Standards on Review Engagements, we do not express any assurance on the service charge accounts other than in making the factual statements set out below.

Had we performed additional procedures or had we performed an audit or review of the financial statements in accordance with the International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or International Standard on Review Engagements, other matters might have come to our attention that would have been reported to you.

Report of factual findings

- (a) With respect to item 1 we found the figures in the statement of account to have been extracted correctly from the accounting records.
- (b) With respect to item 2 we found that those entries in the accounting records that we checked were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

How do variable service charges work?

Types of service charge costs.....

Glossary of terms

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Types of service charge costs

Depending on your home and the services you receive, and any specific terms in your lease, you may be required to pay for one or more service charge elements. A list of what you may pay for and a brief description is shown below:

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Accountancy Fee	The cost of providing the Accountant's Report to accompany your service charge statement if it is required by your lease
 Aids & Adaptations (in communal areas)	The cost of the provision, repair and maintaining of adaptations in communal areas
 Alarm, Aerial, Door Entry and General Servicing	The cost of providing, servicing, maintaining and testing systems and equipment in communal areas which may include, but is not limited to: TV aerials External alarms and CCTV Door entry systems Fire alarms and emergency lighting Entry gates and barriers Laundry equipment Air conditioning and ventilation
 Building Insurance	The cost of building insurance on properties we own. This does not include contents insurance, which is your responsibility to arrange with a provider of your choice.
 Cleaning	The cost of cleaning communal areas to the block such as corridors, stairwells, windows, flooring, communal lounges and kitchens.
 Communal Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of electricity for all communal lighting internal to the block or street lighting for the scheme (when not owned and maintained by the local authority.) The cost of fuel to heat and provide hot water to communal rooms including shared bathrooms, lounges and kitchens. The cost of communal water supply to gardens, kitchens, bathrooms, bin stores and sewage pumps.
 Communal Lift Maintenance	The cost of maintaining, cleaning, repair, insurance or replacement of lifts in communal areas.
 Communal Repairs	The cost of repairing and maintaining communal areas of the block or scheme. Most repairs are covered by the rent, but some communal repairs are charged through service charges.
 Environmental (including pest control)	The cost of sewerage charges, gritting services and costs incurred in clearing vermin, including pesticides and pest control contracts.
 Estate Services Costs	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by Guinness staff.
 Fixtures, Fittings and White Goods	The cost of maintaining, servicing (including periodic cleaning), renewal of furniture, furnishings and white goods in communal areas of the building.
 Waste/Rubbish removal and Bin Hire	The cost of maintaining, decontamination and repair of refuse collection and refuse containers. The cost of removing rubbish including items that have been fly-tipped on the scheme.

Types of service charge costs continued

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Gardening and Tree Work	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by third party contractors.
 Ground Rent	An annual charge, known as ground rent, may be charged to a leaseholder by the freeholder. This is stated in the lease.
 Heating Repairs & Maintenance	The cost of maintaining and repairing any communal heating system.
 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.
 Private Wellbeing Charge	The cost of night services for our Extra Care customers.
 Risk Assessment and Monitoring	The cost of statutory servicing and periodic risk assessments which may include fire risk assessments, legionella risk assessments and, for leaseholders, gas safety checks.
 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

Accountants Report of the Factual Findings to the Landlord of NETHERNE ON THE HILL

You have stated that an audit of the service charge accounts in accordance with International Standards on Auditing is not required under the terms of the lease for NETHERNE ON THE HILL. In accordance with our engagement letter dated 13th August 2021, we have performed procedures agreed with you and enumerated below with respect to the service charge accounts set out on the attached pages for the year ended 31st March 2021 in order to provide a report of factual findings about the service charge accounts that you have issued. This report is made to the landlord for issue with the service charge accounts in accordance with the terms of our engagement. Our work has been undertaken to enable us to make this report to the Landlord and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent of the law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the Landlord for our work or for this report.

Basis of report

Our work was carried out having regard to TECH 03/11 Residential Service Charge Accounts published jointly by the professional accountancy bodies with ARMA and RICS. In summary, the procedures we carried out with respect to the service charge accounts were:

- (1) We obtained the service charge accounts and checked whether the figures in the accounts were extracted correctly from the accounting records maintained by or on behalf of the Landlord.
- (2) We checked, based on a sample, whether entries in the accounting records were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected.

Because the above procedures do not constitute either an audit or a review made in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or the International Standards on Review Engagements, we do not express any assurance on the service charge accounts other than in making the factual statements set out below.

Had we performed additional procedures or had we performed an audit or review of the financial statements in accordance with the International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or International Standard on Review Engagements, other matters might have come to our attention that would have been reported to you.

Report of factual findings

- (a) With respect to item 1 we found the figures in the statement of account to have been extracted correctly from the accounting records.
- (b) With respect to item 2 we found that those entries in the accounting records that we checked were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

Service Charge Accounts

Accountants Report of the Factual Findings to the Landlord of Broughton Parcel D

You have stated that an audit of the service charge accounts in accordance with International Standards on Auditing is not required under the terms of the lease for Broughton Parcel D. In accordance with our engagement letter dated 13th August 2021, we have performed procedures agreed with you and enumerated below with respect to the service charge accounts set out on the attached pages for the year ended 31st March 2021 in order to provide a report of factual findings about the service charge accounts that you have issued. This report is made to the landlord for issue with the service charge accounts in accordance with the terms of our engagement. Our work has been undertaken to enable us to make this report to the Landlord and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent of the law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the Landlord for our work or for this report.

Basis of report

Our work was carried out having regard to TECH 03/11 Residential Service Charge Accounts published jointly by the professional accountancy bodies with ARMA and RICS. In summary, the procedures we carried out with respect to the service charge accounts were:

- (1) We obtained the service charge accounts and checked whether the figures in the accounts were extracted correctly from the accounting records maintained by or on behalf of the Landlord.
- (2) We checked, based on a sample, whether entries in the accounting records were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected.

Because the above procedures do not constitute either an audit or a review made in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or the International Standards on Review Engagements, we do not express any assurance on the service charge accounts other than in making the factual statements set out below.

Had we performed additional procedures or had we performed an audit or review of the financial statements in accordance with the International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or International Standard on Review Engagements, other matters might have come to our attention that would have been reported to you.

Report of factual findings

- (a) With respect to item 1 we found the figures in the statement of account to have been extracted correctly from the accounting records.
- (b) With respect to item 2 we found that those entries in the accounting records that we checked were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Service Charge Accounts

Accountants Report of the Factual Findings to the Landlord of Broughton Parcel D

You have stated that an audit of the service charge accounts in accordance with International Standards on Auditing is not required under the terms of the lease for Broughton Parcel D. In accordance with our engagement letter dated 13th August 2021, we have performed procedures agreed with you and enumerated below with respect to the service charge accounts set out on the attached pages for the year ended 31st March 2021 in order to provide a report of factual findings about the service charge accounts that you have issued. This report is made to the landlord for issue with the service charge accounts in accordance with the terms of our engagement. Our work has been undertaken to enable us to make this report to the Landlord and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent of the law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the Landlord for our work or for this report.

Basis of report

Our work was carried out having regard to TECH 03/11 Residential Service Charge Accounts published jointly by the professional accountancy bodies with ARMA and RICS. In summary, the procedures we carried out with respect to the service charge accounts were:

- (1) We obtained the service charge accounts and checked whether the figures in the accounts were extracted correctly from the accounting records maintained by or on behalf of the Landlord.
- (2) We checked, based on a sample, whether entries in the accounting records were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected.

Because the above procedures do not constitute either an audit or a review made in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or the International Standards on Review Engagements, we do not express any assurance on the service charge accounts other than in making the factual statements set out below.

Had we performed additional procedures or had we performed an audit or review of the financial statements in accordance with the International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or International Standard on Review Engagements, other matters might have come to our attention that would have been reported to you.

Report of factual findings

- (a) With respect to item 1 we found the figures in the statement of account to have been extracted correctly from the accounting records.
- (b) With respect to item 2 we found that those entries in the accounting records that we checked were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.

Types of service charge costs.....

Glossary of terms

What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

Estimated Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

Service Charge financial year end

Actual Service Charges calculated and mailed to customers

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

 Cleaning	The cost of cleaning communal areas to the block such as corridors, stairwells, windows, flooring, communal lounges and kitchens.
 Communal Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of electricity for all communal lighting internal to the block or street lighting for the scheme (when not owned and maintained by the local authority.) The cost of fuel to heat and provide hot water to communal rooms including shared bathrooms, lounges and kitchens. The cost of communal water supply to gardens, kitchens, bathrooms, bin stores and sewage pumps.
 Communal Lift Maintenance	The cost of maintaining, cleaning, repair, insurance or replacement of lifts in communal areas.
 Communal Repairs	The cost of repairing and maintaining communal areas of the block or scheme. Most repairs are covered by the rent, but some communal repairs are charged through service charges.
 Environmental (including pest control)	The cost of sewerage charges, gritting services and costs incurred in clearing vermin, including pesticides and pest control contracts.
 Estate Services Costs	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by Guinness staff.
 Fixtures, Fittings and White Goods	The cost of maintaining, servicing (including periodic cleaning), renewal of furniture, furnishings and white goods in communal areas of the building.
 Waste/Rubbish removal and Bin Hire	The cost of maintaining, decontamination and repair of refuse collection and refuse containers. The cost of removing rubbish including items that have been fly-tipped on the scheme.

Types of service charge costs continued

Service Charge Element	Description of cost
 Gardening and Tree Work	The cost of maintaining the landscape and communal areas around blocks or communal gardens where this is delivered by third party contractors.
 Ground Rent	An annual charge, known as ground rent, may be charged to a leaseholder by the freeholder. This is stated in the lease.
 Heating Repairs & Maintenance	The cost of maintaining and repairing any communal heating system.
 Management Fee	The internal Guinness cost of managing all services listed including the procurement of contracts. The fee includes administration costs and the cost of certain staff salaries.
 Managing Agent Fee	The cost of services where a Management Company provides some or all of the services to the block or scheme.
 Offices Contribution	Where we have an office based on your scheme that also benefits from the services listed, a credit for this will appear on your service charge statement.
 On Site Services and Scheme Staff	The cost of salaries and on-costs for Guinness staff providing specific services to the scheme. This includes the cost of Retirement Living advisors in Sheltered Housing schemes.
 Private Gas, Electricity and Water Charges	The cost of providing heating and/or hot water to individual dwellings where Guinness provides this.

 Warden Call System or Community Alarm System	The cost of monitoring, maintaining and servicing emergency alarms/pull cord systems.
 Wellbeing Charge	The cost of certain specific services for our Extra Care customers.
 Window Cleaning	The cost of cleaning the windows of communal areas which includes materials, equipment and staff costs.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

Accountants Report of the Factual Findings to the Landlord of LANTERNS COURT

You have stated that an audit of the service charge accounts in accordance with International Standards on Auditing is not required under the terms of the lease for LANTERNS COURT. In accordance with our engagement letter dated 13th August 2021, we have performed procedures agreed with you and enumerated below with respect to the service charge accounts set out on the attached pages for the year ended 31st March 2021 in order to provide a report of factual findings about the service charge accounts that you have issued. This report is made to the landlord for issue with the service charge accounts in accordance with the terms of our engagement. Our work has been undertaken to enable us to make this report to the Landlord and for no other purpose. What is a service charge?

Service charges are payments made by residents for services that are provided by Guinness and/or a managing agent in respect of the common parts of buildings and external communal areas of a scheme. If you live in a flat, you are required to pay for a share of services to internal communal areas in the building (block) that your flat is in as well as external communal areas. If you live in a house, which is on a scheme, you are required to pay for a share of the upkeep of the communal areas of the scheme.

Service charges under tenancies and leases may be fixed or variable. The type of service charge is determined by the provisions of the lease.

A variable service charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to vary the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated. Your lease will give more information on your service charge.

How do variable service charges work?

Estimates

At the beginning of your service charge year (which is detailed in your lease, but normally runs from 1 April to 31 March) we will send you a service charge estimate.

This is the amount we expect to spend on your scheme during the next year. We calculate the estimates based on known or budgeted costs.

You then pay the amount stated in the estimate for the following 12 months.

Your estimate may increase in some years and decrease in others depending on the actual amount spent in the previous year.

Final Accounts (Service Charge Actuals)

At the end of the financial year, we review all expenditure relating to the services provided to your development during the past 12 months. We then provide you with an end-of-year statement detailing the actual costs we incurred on your behalf.

During the year you will have been paying us a sum to cover your service charges; this amount is based on your annual estimate. This is to avoid you being asked for large lump sums in one go. In your end-of-year statement we outline the estimated service charge as well as the actual expenditure during the year. This helps you to see whether you have a credit in your account or if you need to pay additional monies to cover the expenditure.

You only pay for the services that have been provided. Guinness does not make a profit from service charges. We only pass on costs that we have incurred. We do, however, make a small charge for management and administration which is described on your service charge statement as the Management Fee.

If you are a homeowner and we are unable to finalise the review of expenditure on your development within 6 months of the end of the financial year, we will send you a formal Section 20B notice. We are legally required to do this when we, for any reason, are unable to provide final accounts to you within the usual timescale set out in law. A Section 20B notice will provide some information on the amount we believe your service charge to be, though you will not be required to pay this until we have confirmed this in your statement of actual expenditure. If this happens, we will send your statement as soon as possible.

An independent accountant also audits your final accounts to confirm they are accurate. This is stipulated by your Lease.

End-of-year surplus

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in surplus, this means that the amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount we spent, and money is due back to you. If you are a homeowner we will add the surplus to your Guinness account.

End-of-year deficit

If your end-of-year statement shows your account is in deficit, this means that the amount that you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount we spent. These costs will be added to your account and are payable on demand in line with your lease terms.

Glossary of terms

A number of specific terms are used in service charge documentation which are not commonly used day to day elsewhere. The meaning of those terms is provided below.

Term	Term description
Common Parts / Communal Areas	Areas of the scheme, which are not demised to individual units and are therefore maintained by Guinness and/or a Managing Agent.
Contracts	Contract costs for particular services.
Fixed Service Charge	A Fixed Service Charge is one where the provisions of the tenancy agreement limit the amount that Guinness can increase the charge by.
Freeholder	A company / person who owns the building outright.
Ground Rent	Rent payable under the terms of the lease.
Individual Services	Property services which are billed individually such as buildings insurance and management fee.
Landlord	The owner of a property, which is then rented or leased out to a tenant or lessee.
Lease	A contract between landlord and lessee.
Leaseholder	Leaseholders occupy property under a lease issued by the landlord. Leaseholders are granted a long term interest in the property.
Managing Agent	A company appointed by the Freeholder of a property to manage that property, block or scheme.
Section 20B Notice	A notice which can be sent instead of a demand for payment if end of year accounts are not prepared within 18 months of the costs being incurred.
Service Charge Actual	Details of the actual costs incurred in providing services to a particular property, block or scheme for the year.
Service Charge Deficit	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is less than the actual amount spent. You are liable for the additional costs under the terms of your lease.
Service Charge Estimate	An estimate of what we expect to spend providing services to your scheme during the next year, this is based on known servicing costs, contract costs and prior year actual costs.
Service Charge Surplus	The amount you have paid towards your service charges for the year is more than the actual amount spent and money is due back to you.
Servicing Costs	Regular costs for servicing equipment.
Sinking Fund	Where your lease permits, a sinking fund sets money aside for works which may be required at a later date for large items of expenditure such as lift or door entry replacements.
Tenancy Agreement	A tenancy agreement is a contract between you and a landlord. It lets you live in a property as long as you pay rent and follow the rules set out within the agreement.
Variable Service Charge	A Variable Service Charge is one where the provisions of the lease allow Guinness to change the service charge each year (and perhaps during the year) according to actual costs incurred or estimated.

Accountants Report of the Factual Findings to the Landlord of LANTERNS COURT

You have stated that an audit of the service charge accounts in accordance with International Standards on Auditing is not required under the terms of the lease for LANTERNS COURT. In accordance with our engagement letter dated 13th August 2021, we have performed procedures agreed with you and enumerated below with respect to the service charge accounts set out on the attached pages for the year ended 31st March 2021 in order to provide a report of factual findings about the service charge accounts that you have issued. This report is made to the landlord for issue with the service charge accounts in accordance with the terms of our engagement. Our work has been undertaken to enable us to make this report to the Landlord and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent of the law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the Landlord for our work or for this report.

Basis of report

Our work was carried out having regard to TECH 03/11 Residential Service Charge Accounts published jointly by the professional accountancy bodies with ARMA and RICS. In summary, the procedures we carried out with respect to the service charge accounts were:

- (1) We obtained the service charge accounts and checked whether the figures in the accounts were extracted correctly from the accounting records maintained by or on behalf of the Landlord.
- (2) We checked, based on a sample, whether entries in the accounting records were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected.

Because the above procedures do not constitute either an audit or a review made in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or the International Standards on Review Engagements, we do not express any assurance on the service charge accounts other than in making the factual statements set out below.

Had we performed additional procedures or had we performed an audit or review of the financial statements in accordance with the International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) or International Standard on Review Engagements, other matters might have come to our attention that would have been reported to you.

Report of factual findings

- (a) With respect to item 1 we found the figures in the statement of account to have been extracted correctly from the accounting records.
- (b) With respect to item 2 we found that those entries in the accounting records that we checked were supported by receipts, other documentation or evidence that we inspected

- (1) This summary, which briefly sets out your rights and obligations in relation to variable service charges, must by law accompany a demand for service charges. Unless a summary is sent to you with a demand, you may withhold the service charge. The summary does not give a full interpretation of the law and if you are in any doubt about your rights and obligations you should seek independent advice.
- (2) Your lease sets out your obligations to pay service charges to your landlord in addition to your rent. Service charges are amounts payable for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or the landlord's costs of management, to the extent that the costs have been reasonably incurred.
- (3) You have the right to ask the First-tier Tribunal to determine whether you are liable to pay service charges for services, repairs, maintenance, improvements, insurance or management. You may make a request before or after you have paid the service charge. If the tribunal determines that the service charge is payable, the tribunal may also determine --

- who should pay the service charge and who it should be paid to;
- the amount;
- the date it should be paid by; and
- how it should be paid.

However, you do not have these rights where —

- a matter has been agreed or admitted by you;
 - a matter has already been, or is to be, referred to arbitration or has been determined by arbitration and you agreed to go to arbitration after the disagreement about the service charge or costs arose; or
 - a matter has been decided by a court.
- (4) If your lease allows your landlord to recover costs incurred or that may be incurred in legal proceedings as service charges, you may ask the court or tribunal, before which those proceedings were brought, to rule that your landlord may not do so.
 - (5) Where you seek a determination from the First-tier Tribunal, you will have to pay an application fee and, where the matter proceeds to an oral hearing, a hearing fee, unless you qualify for fee remission or exemption. Making such an application may incur additional costs, such as professional fees, which you may have to pay.
 - (6) The First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (in determining an appeal against a decision of the First-tier Tribunal) have the power to award costs in accordance with section 29 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

(7) If your landlord—

- proposes works on a building or any other premises that will cost you or any other tenant more than £250, or
- proposes to enter into an agreement for works or services which will last for more than 12 months and will cost you or any other tenant more than £100 in any 12 month accounting period, your contribution will be limited to these amounts unless your landlord has properly consulted on the proposed works or agreement or the First-tier Tribunal has agreed that consultation is not required.

(8) You have the right to apply to the First-tier Tribunal to ask it to determine whether your lease should be varied on the grounds that it does not make satisfactory provision in respect of the calculation of a service charge payable under the lease.

(9) You have the right to write to your landlord to request a written summary of the costs which make up the service charges. The summary must—

- cover the last 12 month period used for making up the accounts relating to the service charge ending no later than the date of your request, where the accounts are made up for 12 month periods; or
- cover the 12 month period ending with the date of your request, where the accounts are not made up for 12 month periods.
- The summary must be given to you within 1 month of your request or 6 months of the end of the period to which the summary relates whichever is the later.

(10) You have the right, within 6 months of receiving a written summary of costs, to require the landlord to provide you with reasonable facilities to inspect the accounts, receipts and other documents supporting the summary and for taking copies or extracts from them.

(11) You have the right to ask an accountant or surveyor to carry out an audit of the financial management of the premises containing your dwelling, to establish the obligations of your landlord and the extent to which the service charges you pay are being used efficiently. It will depend on your circumstances whether you can exercise this right alone or only with the support of others living in the premises. You are strongly advised to seek independent advice before exercising this right.

(12) Your lease may give your landlord a right of re-entry or forfeiture where you have failed to pay charges which are properly due under the lease. However, to exercise this right, the landlord must meet all the legal requirements and obtain a court order. A court order will only be granted if you have admitted you are liable to pay the amount or it is finally determined by a court, tribunal or by arbitration that the amount is due. The court has a wide discretion in granting such an order and it will take into account all the circumstances of the case.
